

Building Consultancy – Staff Promotions

30 March 2010

The building and property consultancy that advises some of the UK's biggest commercial property owners and occupiers has announced a number of senior staff promotions.

Tuffin Ferraby Taylor LLP, has promoted two of its South-East team, James Ennis and David Newton to Senior Associate. In the Bristol office, Ashley Morris also becomes Senior Associate, with Alistair Lloyd Allison made an Associate.

TFT's HR partner, Christine Keates, says: "Despite the tough trading conditions over the last year we have seen some real development in areas of our business and these promotions reflect the hard work that has been put in by all staff."

Staff biographies:

James Ennis, senior associate, London – a leading member of the project consultancy team, James is experienced in project management and development monitoring. He primarily works on large multi-million pound refurbishment projects for clients including ING Real Estate and PRUPIM. He recently monitored the high profile £40 million redevelopment of the former Dickens and Jones store on Regent Street.

David Newton, senior associate, South East – with a specialism in dilapidations and building pathology, David is a key member of the commercial team in the South East. He will also be a leading member of the newly formed Guildford office as part of the restructuring of TFT's South East division. David has significant experience in negotiating high value dilapidations claims on behalf of both landlords and tenants.

Ashley Morris, senior associate, Bristol – a registered member of the Association for Project Safety, Ashley controls TFT's CDM Co-ordinator services across the practice and provides regional support for local housing associations. With nearly 25 years' experience in the construction industry, Ashley heads the Construction and Regeneration team in the South West.

Alistair Lloyd Allison, associate, Bristol – specialising in large budget project management and contract administration as well as insurance reinstatement cost assessments and was responsible for producing and implementing the framework for these within TFT.
