TFT Guildford Takes On Two Graduate Surveyors

Tuffin Ferraby Taylor (TFT), the independent property and construction consultancy, has appointed two new graduate surveyors for its Guildford office.

Michael Wills has a degree in Building Surveying from Nottingham Trent University and a range of surveying experience in firms such as Bailey Garner and Bray Estates. Harry Watts joins from Capita Symonds and has a Masters degree in Building Surveying from London South Bank University.

Both will work across business services within TFT and will be working towards completing their APC. TFT Guildford's services include Dilapidations, Project Consultancy, Expert Witness and Litigation and Cultural Heritage Consultancy.

Jacqui Allen, partner and head of TFT's Guildford office, says: "At TFT we are committed to finding and building young talent and these appointments take our total graduate in take for this year to seven across our network of offices in England and Wales. Michael and Harry will benefit from working with a number of industry specialists within TFT, gaining insight and experience from the Guildford team and the wider firm."
